

Losing You

G                            |G                            |C            |C
There's no such thing as sleep for a jealous fool
C                            |G                            |A7                            |D
And being jealous of someone like you is sort of foolish too
G                            |G                            |C            |C
The life you've chose is the life you want, I guess
G    |G 2beat |D                            |G |G |
Losing yooou            might be the best thing yet

C                            |C                            G                            |G
The longest day I'll live I'll still be suffering from the shame
G                            |G                            |A7                            |D
And the gutter you were making yourself quite a name
G                            |G |G                            |C
I wanted you and you wanted anyone you could get
G    |G 2beat |D                            |G |G |
Losing yooou            might be the best thing yet

Solo over verse or below

G|G7 |C |C |

G|D |G |G |

Patiently I sit alone and wait
Knowing where you were and what you were doing turned my love to hate
My foolishness is all that I regret
Losing you might be the best thing yet

Chorus
